The Daily Oregonian

No Flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the Stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it, ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

SATURDAY MORNING: DECEMBER 17, 1864.

Judicious Investment.

Golden opportunities occur in the lives of individuals and the history of States, and once afforded and unimproved, may pass away never to be known again. In this connection, we would call the attention of the people of Oregon in general and the citizens of Portland, Dalles and other towns interested in the trade of the upper country, to a few plain and important facts relative to the wealth and trade of that rich and extensive section. At present the Columbia river offers the most feasible route to supply this whole mining region, and we are the recipients of a great trade that must grow and increase in any event, and which will be only limited by lack of enterprise on our part in securing its increase and permanence—Owyhee, in particular, offering, perhaps, the richest field for the investment of capital, and the most reliable source of a desirable trade, is so situated as to be bid for by competing interests in California, whose merchants and capitalists are awake to their own best interests, and leaving no stone unturned, necessary to bind to themselves by a direct trade, every country that can possibly yield a tribute to their enterprise. Last summer two companies were incorporated to build roads from Jordan creek westward—one towards Humboldt, and the other direct to the head of steam navigation on the Sacramento river at Red Bluffs. Considerable was done on the Jordan Creek end of the route last July, and a practicable road for wagons was made along the mountain sides down the creek, said to be over the worst of the road.

Parties are now here on their way to San Francisco, who expect to return overland and prospect for the very best route to build the rest of the road, and we have no reason to doubt that the Indian disturbances will soon cease there, and that unless we stir ourselves, capital from California will work out a solution of a problem in which we are interested, and appropriate the trade of that country to themselves, while we are believing that the trade is ours. Ish & Co. are now buying horses to stock the road from Virginia City to Ruby City, Owyhee, and run a daily line of stages between those places as soon as the Spring shall open. There is a great deal of desert lying between Red Bluffs and Virginia City, and Owyhee, and the great advantage we possess is in being able to lay a road over a country that possesses wood, water and grass in abundance, encountering no great obstacles, and reaching the Columbia river at the Dalles in about the same distance required to reach Virginia City or Red Bluff. This road would go via Canyon City, crossing the Owyhee near the mouth of Jordan Creek, and going up that creek over fifty miles, altogether avoiding the desert course of Snake river, and—Mr. Hiram Smith of Portland, whose opinion is of value, says—crossing the Blue Mountains by a much easier route than the old emigrant road.

Owyhee presents to-day as good opportunities for the accumulation of great fortunes as Washoe ever did. The first running of her mills proves it. The $60,000 value of bullion now stacked in the banking house of Ladd & Tilton, indicates it, and it might be a great help to the capital of Portland if some of it was judiciously invested in "feet," even if not for matter of speculation, still as some show of appreciation on our part, and a disposition to encourage the enterprise that discovers and prospects a wilderness while we dwell in ease. The men who are among us wintering, after a season of toil in the mountains, don't seem to be anxious to hunt up customers, and are as independent of us as mountaineers naturally would feel. If we wish to purchase, interests can now be had at a low figure that will soon be held above the reach of ordinary men, and it may only be our own loss that they are unpurchased. George L. Curry, Esq., has opened an office in connection with certain mining companies, and is a gentleman well known, and whose statements can be depended on.

Messrs. Kirkpatrick, Ray & Co. are here, the first named an old citizen of our State is too well known to need comment from us, and whose company, including six practical miners, have put in the last year securing and developing good interest in Owyhee, by hard steady labor. Mr. Jackson, who discovered the Silver Bullion Ledge, of some considerable note, is among us; and Mr. A. N. Grenzebach is turning his entire attention to that same district. Others of our most prominent citizens have invested there after visiting the country.

We don't propose to advise any person to purchase "feet" or mining stock; we only call their attention to the facts above stated, as of general interest and importance. Our citizens have assisted in organizing several companies, notice of which has been seen in our local columns. The Potosi Company, under the management of some of our most prudent citizens, has secured some good ground of Messrs. Kirkpatrick, Ray & Co., and talks of building a mill as well as developing the mine. We hail this as an indication of enterprise in a proper direction; for while we shall never intentionally say a word in favor of "wild cat stock," we shall, whenever we can do so, speak understandingly of the mining interests of the day.

DALLES LIBERALITY.—A friend writes us that those connected with the M. E. Church at Dalles and its friends there, gave a donation party to Rev. B. C. Lippencott, pastor of that church, on Thursday evening, Dec. 8th, the receipts of which amounted to the handsome sum of $813. This is one of the handsomest efforts of the kind we recollect of as happening in any part of our State, and its very success proves that it must have been well deserved.

TO DAILY SUBSCRIBERS.—We are sending out our circulars and bills to all who have not prepaid according to our published terms, and as the bills are made out for the full year, we would remark that when any persons do not desire to subscribe for that length of time, they can learn our terms for a shorter period from the accompanying prospectus.

PERSONAL.—We notice the arrival of S. E. May, Esq., Secretary of State and I. R. Moores, Esq., Speaker of the House, both residents of Salem, and returning from California by the steamer last evening.

Letter from La Grande.

LA GRANDE, December 6, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I wish to avail myself of a small space in your columns for the benefit of the community generally, in regard to the new road. I have noticed some articles in the papers that said the road over the Blue mountains was almost impassable. Now, I wish to say that the road is not only passable but is in excellent condition for travel, by either wagons or sleighs, and that there never has been a greater amount of freighting, both by teams and pack trains, than is doing now. There [illegible] ten inches of snow on the summit, and the road is hard and smooth. Messrs. Meacham & Brothers have done a great amount of work on this road this last summer and fall, improving it materially, cutting out the bad hills and making it straighter, and they are justly entitled to the patronage of the traveling public. This road will be kept open and in good condition all winter, and the stages will make regular trips from Umatilla. There has been considerable rain and little snow this fall—the ground is now bare, weather warm, and farmers are very busy sowing winter wheat. A very heavy crop of grain was raised here last summer, and a great quantity of winter wheat is being sown. A number of emigrants located here this fall, and most of them are busy opening farms; and within a very few years the country east of the Blue mountains will supply a large amount of grain and vegetables for the mines in this vicinity and above. The miners are coming in from the mountains in all directions—from Eagle Creek, Humboldt Basin, Granite Creek, Grande Ronde river, Boise and Owyhee, all well satisfied with their present and future prospects. It is settled, I believe, beyond a doubt, that the mines of Oregon and Idaho surpass, in richness and extent, any lately discovered; and the number of quartz mills and amount of freight going forward, proves the confidence of those interested. La Grande is gradually improving, as the country justifies, and the stock of goods the merchants are receiving, speak for what the past has been, and of the confidence they have in the future.

Our town is not like the towns in new countries, and especially mining localities, built of slabs and logs; but most of the buildings are substantial lumber buildings of considerable taste, and I have heard it rumored that brick and stone blocks will be attempted another season, but we will leave that for the future to determine.

The first County Court for Union County, convened yesterday, Judge Lichtenthaler presiding. There are six civil cases on the docket.

Quite a number of us here are taking the DAILY OREGONIAN and would like to continue it, but unless there is some improvement in the mail carrying, which will insure more regularity, we will have to discontinue it. By the way, some enterprising man with a little available capital could do well by bringing a number one flouring mill and saw mill here. Both are needed very much.

Yours, &c., C.

A WAR DEMOCRAT AND DOUGLAS.—The following is from a speech made at Toledo, Ohio, by General James B. Steedman:

From the time he cast his first vote down to the breaking out of the rebellion, General Steedman was a [illegible] working partisan Democrat. For a number of years he was the acknowledged leader of the Democracy in Northwestern Ohio, and in the campaign of 1860 [illegible] the greater part of the State, and [illegible] strenuously for the defeat of Lincoln and the election of Douglas. But in response to the President's first call for troops, throwing aside all partisan prejudices, and acknowledging, as did his lamented chieftain, only two parties—for and against the Union—he promptly organized a regiment and led it to the field:

"Some of my old Democratic friends say that I have left them and the Democratic party. I have not. The Democrats who follow the good old flag—the Democrats who follow where Jackson and Douglas led—who heard from them the words of Jackson, 'The Union must and shall be preserved,' are the genuine Democracy. I remember well, when, in 1861, my regiment marched through Summit street, and the crowds of people gathered to see us depart and bid us good bye, my Democratic friends were in that crowd, and [illegible] there approved our course and pledged their unfailing support. We went forth to put down rebellion by war and they promised to stand by and sustain us in doing so. Now who has changed, they or myself? Have we deserted the cause we fought to support? Will you say that?

"But I must give you a little piece of history. Near the close of the campaign of 1860, I went over to Detroit to see Douglas, who was there speaking. I did not go to hear Douglas speak, for I had heard him many times, but I wished to talk with him and learn of his chances of success. As I met him he said, 'It's all over with me,' and added, 'Steedman, if you can do anything for me to make my record right in Ohio, do it; for I want an honorable record.' I assured him I would do all I could, and on his assuring me that Lincoln would be elected, I said, 'Judge, what kind of a man is Lincoln?' 'You know him; [illegible] practiced [illegible] with him, and [illegible].' Douglas replied, 'He is an honest, fearless man, and the country will be safe in his hands.' The prophecy of the 'Little Giant' has proved correct. The country is safe in Lincoln's hands. Thank God, an honest, fearless man was chosen, and will the American people so blunder as to turn him out in the midst of his labors to crush this great rebellion? I solemnly believe that the administration of Lincoln is ordained of God, and when the great work is accomplished, he will hear the plaudit, 'Well done, good and faithful servant.' Never before has any one man had such a task, or such responsibility in the world as President Lincoln has had for four years past."

TRAVELING ON HER "SHAPE."—MAZEPPA MENKEN.—The Golden Era quotes the following as a portion of a private letter written by Mazeppa Menken from London to a friend in San Francisco:

I hasten to inform you of my very great success in England. I appeared on the 3d of October to the largest audience ever seen in Astley's large theatre. Thousands were turned away. My piece is magnificently produced. We have cataracts of real water, a stud of 40 horses, and 200 supernumeraries and ballet girls. No play has ever been presented with the magnificence of Mazeppa in the city of London. I have now played one week. The theatre has been constantly more than crowded. An hour before the opening, it is impossible to pass the streets for thousands of people who are waiting to get in. I am called out six times every night—twice after each act. My manager, Mr. E. T. Smith, is also nightly called before the curtain to be congratulated on the engagement. I have fulfilled my dream of being the sensation of London. I enclose to you only a few notices from the leading papers of Europe—I may say of the world. There are hundreds of other papers, all speaking in the most glowing terms. Tom Taylor, John Brougham, and other great dramatic authors, are writing new plays for me. I have already bought one that is better than the French Spy or Mazeppa. I had hoped to return to California, but I see by the papers that the equestrian drama is all the go. After my engagement here I go to Paris and then to Australia.

RED RIVER.—The Nor' Wester, of Sept. 16th, is at hand:

Two pounds weight of Saskatchewan gold has reached the settlement, and it is of very fine quality.

The Sioux Indian outrages continue. They have commenced to rob the settlers indiscriminately. Houses and churches are broken into and pillaged, and horses, cows, hogs, etc., driven off in droves. The Hudson's Bay Company affords no protection. Four Germans, crossing the plains, have been shot at and killed. A volunteer force is proposed to be raised.

Sully's American expedition against the Sioux had a fight on the borders of Minnesota, and killed 500 men, women and children. The troops sustained very little injury. There are further reports that Sully subsequently lost very many men near the Yellowstone, where the Indians assembled in great numbers, and did considerable damage to the expedition. Other bands of Indians are said to be acting with the Sioux. Six hundred wagons belonging to miners heading to Idaho, are believed to have been captured and destroyed by the Sioux; but we have not heard any particulars.

General Logan relates an anecdote of a couple of Irishmen who deserted from the rebel armies and reached Chicago during the Convention, and heard, at night, Rynders and others making speeches in favor of the [illegible]. "Pat, d'ye know where we are?" "In Shecargo, to be sure." "Not a bit of it; we're back in the Southern Confederacy." [illegible] took us off the wrong end of the ticket, and went the other way and here we are [illegible]."

EARTHQUAKES IN CANADA.—The Montreal Telegraph of the 21st ult. says:

Canada seems disposed to exceed Quito or Peru in the frequency of its earthquakes. At six minutes past 1 o'clock on Friday, four distinct shocks were felt in the vicinity of the mountain. The vibrations seemed to come from the east-west. The first was slight and of short duration, the second heavy, causing the houses to tremble, and the stovepipes and crockery to rattle as if about to fall down. The third shock was the faintest of all, and in all they lasted about six seconds.

NO NEWS.—The wires were still down yesterday beyond Eugene City, and we have no later news. The steamer's arrival last evening brought us no later dates from the East than we have heretofore given. The clearing up of the weather we have hopes will insure us more regular dispatches.

PRESENTATION OF THE TROPHIES.—The flags captured by Sheridan's soldiers in the great battle of Cedar Creek have been placed in the war office. The persons who took them accompanied them to Washington, and with their trophies were introduced to the Secretary of War. The occasion was exceedingly interesting. The flags presented are as follows:

Flag of the [illegible] Cavalry Regiment, captured by [illegible], One Hundred and Sixteenth New York; flag of the Thirteenth Virginia Infantry, captured by Sergeant [illegible], Tenth New York Cavalry; flag of the [illegible] Georgia Infantry, captured by Chief Bugler T. M. Wells, Sixth New York Cavalry; flag supposed to be General Ramseur's headquarters flag, captured by James Sweeney, First Vermont Cavalry; flag of the Eighteenth Georgia Infantry, captured by Private Isaiah Crooker, Sixth Michigan Cavalry; a battle flag captured by Captain Edwards, First Vermont Cavalry, intrusted to the care of Corporal John Welch, Fifth New York Cavalry, in consideration of the fact that Welch recaptured from the enemy the flag of the Fifteenth New Jersey Infantry, which fell into the hands of the rebels in their morning attack; a battle flag captured by Corporal Daniel D. Reigle, Eighty-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers.

The Secretary inquired of Corporal Reigle if the staff to which the flag was fastened, and which bore the appearance of having been hastily made, was captured with the flag. The Corporal replying in the negative, the Secretary said he [illegible] that the staff was [illegible] with the colors. "Why, sir," said the Corporal, "he tore the flag off the staff when I came close to him, and I took it away from him." "Did he say anything?" inquired the Secretary. "He did, sir," was the prompt response, "and I took the flag." Flag of the Twelfth North Carolina Infantry, captured by Sergeant E. D. Woodbury, First Vermont Cavalry. The staff upon which this flag was fastened had evidently been a very excellent jointed fishing rod, and admirably answered the purpose to which it had been applied. A battle flag captured by private Ira Hough, Eighth Indiana Infantry. A flag captured by private Jeremiah Parks, Ninth New York Cavalry, a youth not yet eighteen years of age, and who has not yet been in the service two months. The Secretary expressed the hope that before the war terminated Parks would win a Major-General's commission.

Sweeny, who captured the flag supposed to belong to the late General Ramseur's headquarters, is not yet eighteen years of age. His explanation to the Secretary of the capture was very amusing. "Me and another one of the boys," said he, "saw an ambulance and ordered it to halt. Says the driver, 'The General ordered the ambulance to go on.' Says I, 'What General?' Says the driver, 'General Ramseur.' Says I, 'That is the very man I am looking for.' So the other boy and myself took General Ramseur, the Surgeon, the ambulance, the driver and the horses." General Custer explained that the boy had on a gray jacket when he made the capture, and had thus misled the driver of General Ramseur's ambulance. The Secretary said that he would like to settle "the other boy's" claim, who, Sweeny said, was Corporal Frederick Lyons, First Vermont Cavalry. Secretary Stanton then returned to the soldiers the thanks of the Department and of the Government for their gallantry in this great and brilliant battle, stating that each of them would be furnished with a medal in commemoration of their bravery.

AN ELECTIONEERING STORY.—They say the women rule the world. We have no doubt of it. We have seen instances of it. The women can't vote, but they can electioneer like thunder! Many is the vote they influence, and many are the husbands who act as proxies of their wives at the ballot-box. We have heard of a Democrat whose wife is a "Union man." The couple have difficulty in settling their political differences. They sit and quarrel, argue and dispute and go to sleep when exhausted by great partisan commotion. Until the day before the Presidential election the wife had incessantly endeavored to persuade the husband to vote for Lincoln. He incessantly said he would not; that McClellan would get his vote sure. "He will, eh?" at last exclaimed the wife. "Yes, he will." "Well now, look a here, you obstinate wretch," said madam, "do you love me?" "Yes." "Don't you want to cherish me as ever?" "Yes, I guess so." "Well, sir, my mind is made up. If you don't promise me to vote for Lincoln to-morrow, I'll leave this house and never come back to you—I'm ready to do it, now mind I tell you!" On the morning of the election day his wife's assurance was so emphatically renewed that he took the Lincoln ticket which she had placed in his hand and pledged himself to vote it. At the polls a Democratic acquaintance handed him a McClellan ticket. "No," said he, "I don't want none of them. I've got to go the other way." "How's that?" his friend inquired, "I thought you was all right." "So I was, but after all, I'd rather save my wife than my country!" After the election he explained, and we were there to catch up the story and add it to the annals of heroic women.

THE SALT LAKE EXPRESS ROBBERS.—A requisition having been received from the Governor of Idaho, George Smith, one of the three suspicious characters who were detailed by the authorities for several weeks on suspicion of having been engaged in the robbing of an express stage, and the murder of the driver, near Salt Lake, was yesterday arrested. Smith, with Halloran, alias "Bracky Jack," and one Murphy, left here on the sloop Barefoot for New Westminster, about ten days ago. Yesterday the sloop returned with Smith and Murphy, but "Bracky Jack" is non est. He is said to have taken refuge on San Juan Island. Arrangements to capture him have been made by the Police.—Victoria Chronicle.

THE "BRANT."—Four lives were lost by the capsizing of the schooner Brant, viz: Capt. Olney, two sailors (names unknown) and an Indian. Mrs. Olney, strange to say, died on shore about ten days prior to the occurrence of the catastrophe which hurried her husband into eternity. We understand that the sailors who brought the wreck into this port, with praiseworthy generosity, intend to turn her over to the American Consul for the benefit of the orphans.—Chronicle.

Solomon Sturgis, a millionaire, died at Zanesville, Ohio, lately. At the outset of the war, he organized a company of riflemen at a cost of $20,000. When told a short time before his death that he could not live, he said with something of his old positive energy, "Can I die till Richmond is taken?"

In the English churches the harp is being introduced in the choirs.

THE TREASURE DRIFT.—We have attempted upon many occasions to obtain something near an accurate amount of the treasure constituting a big shipment to California, but have long since abandoned the idea of getting correct statements, although confident that many times over half a million might actually be added to the reports furnished us from the [illegible], as being carried away in the hands of passengers. There is a constant flow of bullion from Oregon in such number, which never can be taken into account, but when that dust finds its way to an Assay office the account will be considered, and thus it is at present working with us, to the credit of California. The following statement from the United States Assessor's office in this city for Oregon, has been furnished us by Mr. Frazar, and it certainly shows a very good footing for the first quarter, under the new law of Congress:

U. S. ASSESSOR'S OFFICE,
Portland, December 15th.

The following is correct statement of bullion assayed and returned to my office, in the State of Oregon during the following months, viz:

Months.	Names of Assayers.	Coin.	Value.
Sept.	Wells, Fargo & Co.	$274,272
Oct.	do	116,0[illegible]
Nov.	do	244,175 98
			$631,778 49
Sept.	Tracy & King	$172,123
Oct.	do	1[illegible]4,283
Nov.	do	225,483 93
			$501,889 96
Sept.	Goldsmith Bros.	54,608
Oct.	do	48,304
Nov.	do	77,098 37
			$180,010 37
Total.			$1,3[illegible]6,678 82

This amount in currency is $[illegible],758,257 64.

Revenue tax ½ of 1 per cent. is.........$[illegible],760 [illegible]

These returns were all from Portland, no other Assay office to my knowledge in the State.

THOS. FRAZAR, U. S. Assessor for Oregon.

From the same source we are furnished, with another item, although not pertaining to the subject of bullion, which is of general importance, showing the special tax on income of 1863, for the State of Oregon, levied by joint resolution of Congress, passed the last day of the session. The total amount for the entire State is $58,4[illegible], with Baker and Grant counties yet to be reported, which will probably return about $3,500. Of this amount the city of Portland has paid $11,680 80.

OUR DREDGER.—"Home Industry" has made a few suggestions to us, in relation to the negotiations now pending on behalf of the city committee on ways and means for the purchase of a dredger. We are partial ourselves to the support of home interests in every particular, and have no doubt but that a suitable machine could be obtained in either of our foundries. The matter is worthy of consideration by the Council, and we direct their attention to the subject as it has been brought before us. It is stated that the terms can be reasonably agreed upon, and the expense attending any "duplicate" castings, when worn out or broken, would be much less purchased here, with the patterns of the original manufacture, than could be expected from sending to San Francisco or New York. The boats will necessarily be made at home, and with the material at hand a substantial "dipper" or "endless-chain" dredger can also be put up.

CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—Mr. Mingins has been delivering addresses in favor of this worthy cause through this State, and we hope the citizens have liberally responded to this, as they have on similar calls upon their sympathy for the soldier in the field. We take pleasure in calling attention to the Ladies' Fair, to be held at Turn Verien Hall, on Tuesday and Wednesday evening next, for the benefit of the Commission, and we hope the public will respond as freely to their undertaking as the efforts of the ladies deserve they should. It is hoped that many from abroad will be able to attend, and we are confident the attractions of the Fair will repay the trouble and expense. On Monday we will endeavor to set forth the inducements offered, at greater length.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION.—Yesterday morning at about 5 o'clock, a collision occurred between the steamers Wilson G. Hunt and Rescue, a short distance below this city. The Rescue was coming to Portland from Monticello, and the Wilson G. Hunt was just leaving for the Cascades. The cause of the collision was a misunderstanding of the signal whistles. The Rescue was very badly damaged, by having the entire upper works of the starboard side swept away, and one of her hog-beams broken. The Hunt was not injured so much, and both boats are making their usual time, with the addition of a few carpenters to their respective crews.

RECORDER'S COURT.—The following cases have been disposed of, before Recorder McCoy since Wednesday last. State of Oregon vs. George Barnes, charged with biting off "Jack Shepard's" lip, discharge—evidence showing that Shepard was the assaulting party. City vs. John Walters, violent conduct, fined $30 and costs, in default committed for 8 days. O. C. Johnson, for violent conduct, was fined $10 and costs, in default committed for 10 days. Tobias Thomas and Richard Hueschurch were each fined respectively $25 and $20 with costs, for selling liquor without a license.

MISS. LESTER.—This lady on returning from the Dalles, expresses her willingness to assist the ladies of Portland in their Fair for the Christian Commission next week. So we may presume that her reading and personations of character, will be added to the variety of attractions promised us on that occasion.

THE RELIEF.—The Oregon Iron Works in this city have completed and forwarded to the Santiam river a new cylinder for the steamer Relief, which was disabled by accident a few weeks since, and soon that boat will be making regular trips again on the upper Willamette.

STATE CENTRE.—Mr. S. J. McCormick of this city received his commission from the head Centre of the Fenian Brotherhood of the United States, last evening, as State Centre for the year 1865, of the Brotherhood in Oregon.

CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—REV. MR. MINGENS is expected to preach at the Congregational Church in this city on Sunday morning at 10½ o'clock, and will preach at the Presbyterian Church in the evening, at which time he will present the claims of the Christian Commission.

STRANGE BUT TRUE.—The gentleman who writes the funny items, for the Mountaineer, is not the same who does the summary of Eastern News, as the latter is nearly verbatim copied from the OREGONIAN, appearing there as an editorial.

Miss LESTER informs us that she will not visit Salem until the last of next week, for want of a convenient place to read in. The Theatre is at present occupied there by Mr. Potter.

JULIA MORGAN'S BENEFIT.—To-night the benefit of Miss Julia Morgan takes place at Willamette Theatre. Johny Mason, the champion clog dancer, will make his appearance, he having kindly volunteered his services on this occasion.

DALLES ITEMS.—Chas. Smith, in jail on the charge of drunkenness, attempted suicide by hanging, but was saved by the entrance of the jailor. He is said to have had the delirium tremens.

Michael McIntire was fined fifteen dollars for assault and battery.

Miss Lester performed Thursday evening to an appreciative audience, though small on account of the inclemency of the weather, the night being very stormy. She secured many subscribers to her "Monthly," which speaks well for the tastes of the people of the Dalles.

Benefit of Julia Morgan to-night.

The Lungs are the Great Labratory of the Human System.—When once destroyed they never can be made sound again. We should remove the first cause which tends to their destruction. When sores are forming, it is indicated by a cough or pains in the chest, and difficulty of breathing. Now, Allen's Lung Balsam will check these symptoms at once, if it is used in time, and prevent fatal Consumption.

A BOLD AND SUCCESSFUL [illegible] TAKING.—A correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat writing from Jefferson City October 21st relates the following:

The following [illegible] [illegible] Captain Babcoke [illegible] Major [illegible] [illegible] General [illegible]

On the 8th [illegible] [illegible] General Brown to General [illegible] About two miles from Jefferson City [illegible] [illegible] supposed him to be one of the officers of their own army, and [illegible] It must be remembered that Price's rebels are sometimes clothed by whole companies in Federal uniform. The rebels thus threw off their guard and permitted Captain Babcoke and his men to ride into the yard.

As soon as the house was surrounded Captain Babcock told the whole party [illegible] to surrender in such tones as convinced them they were sold. He had men that he could [illegible] he ordered them to shoot down any rebel that attempted to move or use his gun. The rebels outside the house dropped their guns and those inside seeing the house surrounded surrendered at discretion. The horses of the rebels were hitched at some distance in the wood [illegible] the Captain sent for, and mounting his prisoners [illegible] and eleven men—started for Jefferson City. This capture was within a mile of Price's main column and Captain Babcoke [illegible] found himself like the man that won the elephant in a raffle. He had "got a good thing"—the point was [illegible]. But the mind that conceived the capture of the rebel outpost was fertile in expedients. He placed his prisoners in the front and started to go around the rebel army which lay between him and Jefferson City. He crossed the Osage several times, and made a number of narrow escapes from running directly into the rebel lines. He was tangled in the bends of the Osage [illegible] Raymond and the "Elbows of the Miner" [illegible] But he knew the country and succeeded in effectually dodging the whole rebel army. Next day after the capture of his prisoners, while riding down a hill he saw a rebel company descending a hill opposite and coming toward him. As on the previous occasion he conceived his safety lay in boldness, and, with his thirty men and thirteen prisoners, he charged on the rebel company with a yell and drove them back. [illegible] two or more men [illegible] to look after him as well as after the enemy in front, and the captured rebs, instead of being an incumbrance were an advantage, as they helped to swell the number of Captain Babcoke's force and make it appear more formidable. No sooner had he got the rebs in front of him on the skedaddle than he made a sudden detour by a bypath and got into the bush. It was afterward ascertained that the skedaddlers reported to Price that the Federals were advancing in force in their rear and he had his army drawn up in line of battle to meet them. The rebels were hunting for Captain Babcoke for six days, knowing he could not have reached the Federal forces at Jefferson City. The brave men of his company had a tedious time camping out at nights, and between guarding their prisoners and keeping a watch out for the enemy they had little time for sleep. Six days and six nights were passed, when Captain Babcoke and his faithful band safely arrived in Jefferson City and delivered to General Brown their thirteen prisoners who are now safely confined here. General Brown has publicly complimented Captain Babcoke.

LIFE AT THE EXTREME FRONT.—An army correspondent of the New York Times from the front of the Union lines in Virginia, writes:

I mentioned a few lines back the good nature of the pickets. Any other disposition on the part of the rebels would be impossible almost in view of the fact that the private soldiers look upon us as their best friends, and come over by the dozen to escape the tyranny of the Confederate service. Since Sunday last not less than 140 deserters have come into the lines of the army of the James. Seventy-five came over to us in a single day, a few of whom were from the gunboats. This morning a company of fifteen, constituting an entire picket post, headed by their officer, ran in together in front of the Tenth Corps. These men are examined separately, and they all confess a perfect loss of confidence in the success of the rebellion and an utter hatred of Jeff Davis' tricks and all connected therewith. They assert that desertions would be in larger numbers if there were less [illegible], and the men dared speak to each other of their intention. For instance it has often happened that two men who have been placed at adjoining posts on the picket line both escape and meet at the guard house at General Butler's headquarters. Both express surprise at seeing one another under their new circumstances and then comes the explanation: "Why, Jim, I was watching you all the time for a chance to slip away." "And I was watching you, Mike, for my chance," is generally the reply. The majority of those who have deserted recently are old soldiers, many from Early's command, who were found straggling about Richmond at the time of our last advance and were hurried into the local defence organizations. Others are old men and mere lads who, regardless of their age and inability to endure service in the field were thrust into the militia and placed on active duty on the same occasion. The desertion of this latter class shows that the duty required of them must have been very repulsive when to escape it they determined to leave wives, children and kindred to the tender mercies of the authorities of Richmond.

Among the prisoners brought to headquarters two nights since, were a pair of remarkable characters, both F. F. V.'s and employees in the Treasury Department at Richmond, one in the Controller's office and the other in the Fourth Auditor's. Their names are Hardy and McCrae. These gentlemen [illegible] time of life the latter having been relieved from duty as a Major in the rebel service some time since on account of his age. Their story is that they were compelled to [illegible] week, and were placed in picket duty as persons who could be trusted [illegible] relieved by the corporal of the guard they moved off, as they believed in the direction of their camp, and accidentally walked into our lines, bringing their muskets with them. [illegible] expressed much chagrin at having committed so gross an error and begged of General Butler to believe they were not deserters. There was something very ludicrous in the appearance of these discomfited old gentlemen [illegible] over the [illegible] warmth in their [illegible] each other with stately politeness for their [illegible] in being such unskilful pickets [illegible] taking the blame of the mistake. Their dress was unique. The ex-Major [illegible] and stool with [illegible] obscured by the [illegible] rested upon his grizzly [illegible] was habited in a [illegible] bare [illegible] small [illegible] and bad [illegible] blanket. General Butler [illegible] soldiers that they should [illegible] of war, and in the [illegible] with a number of [illegible] on [illegible] Point Lookout.—[illegible] Bulletin.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

WITH corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood you must be sick all over. It may burst out in pimples, sores or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases.

Blood and Liver.

This valuable Medicine is now available to the public for the cure of

SCROFULA CONSUMPTION, RHEUMATISM, CANCER,
HEART, LIVER AND KIDNEY DISEASES,
NEURALGIA, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, BRONCHITIS,
DYSPEPSIA, &c.

AS A TONIC,

its operations are evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. In cases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble he becomes full, strong and florid.

Are you sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping over you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, and cleanse out the disordered system—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again.

AS A LITHONTRIPTIC,

it has no equal. Being chemically combined with Iodine, it possesses in a high degree the power of dissolving Stone in the bladder and urates of the kidneys, preventing gravel formation and enlargement of the prostrate gland, irritation of the neck of the bladder, dropsy, etc.
